Scientific publications are considered one of the valid performance indicators for health professionals. Several good research works do not get published, largely attributed to inadequate training and exposure. The first course, INSPIRE 2021 conducted to bridge this gap, received accolades from participants and resource persons concurrently. The second edition of this acclaimed course, INSPIRE 2022, shall be commenced on demand from more partakers.

Course Credits- 3 credits as per UGC Guidelines

- 16 hours Online Theory sessions
- 64 hours Online Practical [Group Assignments, Portfolio, Manuscript Preparation and presentation] spread over 3 months

Intended Learning Outcomes

At the end of the course, the participant would be able to

- Appreciate various components of all scientific communications [original research, review, case report / series, short communications / letter / correspondence / dispatch and book reviews] with appropriateness of content in each component.
- Identify various issues on ethics, copyright and plagiarism and ways to mitigate them.
- Write a scientific communication completely under the guidance offered by the resource person and identify appropriate journal for publication.
- Sensitize on the process of online submission and also to respond to reviewer's comments.
